NinjaTrader Brokerage Further Reduces Costs for New Futures Traders

Chicago, IL, Monday, May 20th, 2019 – Coinciding with the launch of CME Group’s Micro E-mini equity index futures, NinjaTrader Brokerage has introduced multiple pricing adjustments to help to further lower the costs for new traders to get started in the futures markets.

“At a fraction of the size of their E-mini counterparts, Micro US equity index futures will introduce futures trading to an even broader range of market participants,” stated Eliot Wickersheimer, President of NinjaTrader Brokerage. “As a leading provider of futures brokerage services, our goal is to ensure that we are providing new traders with a cost structure, trading tools and support resources that will allow them to experience the benefits of these flexible financial instruments.”

These recent pricing adjustments include lowering the funding minimum to open an account from $1000 to $400, day trading margins of only $50 on Micro contracts and commissions as low as $.09 per Micro contract. Combined with NinjaTrader’s free to use award winning platform, the initial costs for a new futures trader to enter the markets have been drastically reduced.

“By providing access to these highly liquid markets with a limited financial commitment, CME Group is providing a path for new traders to experience the benefits of futures including a transparent, regulated marketplace and nearly 24-hour access,” stated Wickersheimer. “With an account minimum of only $400 and a further reduction of our margins & commissions, traders can take advantage of these smaller contracts to determine if futures are a fit for them.”

NinjaTrader Brokerage is immediately available to accept new Futures accounts. Contact brokeragesales@ninjatrader.com to learn more.
