

NinjaTrader Expands Support to Include Options Trading

CHICAGO, IL, November 11th, 2019 – NinjaTrader, LLC, a leading provider of award-winning trading software, has introduced support for options trading through its latest platform release. Featuring an intuitive Option Chain, options traders can now leverage NinjaTrader’s industry-leading market analysis & professional grade charting toolset.

“The extension of our platform capabilities to support options trading is something our clients have long been asking for,” stated Martin Franchi, CEO of NinjaTrader Group, LLC. “With over 60,000 users trading the leading futures, forex & stock markets, the ability to trade options on futures will provide our clients with additional flexibility in their trading strategies and further diversification opportunities.”

Use of the Option Chain is currently available through NinjaTrader Brokerage to trade options on futures. This actionable matrix allows traders to quickly access the options available on an underlying futures contract & manage expirations with visibility to strike prices & quotes.

“As a leading provider of futures brokerage services, the ability to trade options on futures through the NinjaTrader platform will resonate both with current clients and those traders still searching for their ideal service provider,” stated Eliot Wickersheimer, President of NinjaTrader Brokerage. “We are excited for the opportunity to introduce our trading platform, discount pricing & levels of support to a new audience of traders.”

The Option Chain is included in the latest release of NinjaTrader and a free demo is available here. NinjaTrader Brokerage is immediately available to accept Options on Futures accounts. Contact brokeragesales@ninjatrader.com to learn more.
